SHERIFF

And Deputy Made Prisoners by Two of the Escaped Convicts.

Exciting Battle on a Farm.

Posse Came to the Assistance of the Two Prisoners But the Sheriff Refused to Let Them Pursue the Escaped Convicts.

Spokane, Nov. 11.—Warden McLaughlin reports this morning that Lawrence Lewis White, the thirteenth of the escaped convicts to be taken, has been arrested at Lomax, Kansas. Lewis it is said was shot in the back and fatally wounded. Two others in addition to the couple that yesterday made captive of Sheriff Cook, are said to have been wounded in a fight with officers between Topeka and Leavenworth.

INTO A TRAP

The Sheriff and His Deputy Walked at a Farm House.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 11.—Some farm boys near Pauline, five miles south of this city, learned two escaped convicts from Leavenworth were in the neighborhood. Hastily forming a posse, armed with target rifles, pistols and clubs, they gave chase. Neither of the convicts was armed, and they were unable to make a stand. Later Sheriff Cook and Deputy Williams arrived. Coming upon the convicts both officers fired, wounding the men but not disabling them. The convicts then fled through a small opening in the timber and ran into the house of Farmer Wooster. Sheriff Cook telegraphed to Topeka for assistance and then took up the chase. Thinking the convicts had run around the house, Cook dashed through the open door, intending to surprise them at the rear door. But instead of this the convicts had gone into the house and the officers almost fell into their arms. Sheriff Cook was ordered to give up as gun, which he did. Deputy Williams by this time had reached the house and entered without knowing what had happened inside, and he, too, was made captive by the convicts. In the meantime Chief Stahl of Topeka with eight officers were on their way. They arrived at the Wooster house about an hour after the officers had been imprisoned. Chief Stahl immediately began negotiations with the convicts to give up their prisoners and to surrender themselves, but the convicts only laughed. Farmer Wooster then managed to get a gun and was about to make an attack on the convicts when one of them laid him low with a blow from the butt of a revolver taken from one of their captives. The convicts broke Wooster's right hand and cut an ugly gash in his head.

One of the convicts told Sheriff Cook that he would be killed if he made the slightest move toward their capture. In the meantime the police officers on the outside had surrounded the building, but were afraid to make a move for fear that Cook and Williams would suffer. Mrs. Wooster had fainted during the excitement. She finally revived, and then the bold convicts placed the woman and Sheriff Cook in front of them as shields and made for the door.

Then, after exacting a promise from the sheriff that he would not permit any of the officers outside to fire on them, they started for the open. As they left the house, the frightened farmer's wife and the submissive sheriff before them, the convicts passed between a cordon of police, who could have easily captured them, and started for the railroad track. The sheriff had in turn exacted a promise from the police that they would not molest the convicts, and they did not. After covering a considerable distance down the track the convicts suddenly disappeared through a hedge fence, bidding the officers a mocking farewell. The convicts had secured a good start before the officers had recovered from their surprise. Then some of the policemen wanted to pursue, but Sheriff Cook would not permit it, as he had promised the convicts immunity from arrest. Later a posse started in pursuit.

GUNNER'S NEGLIGENCE
Responsible for a Dreadful Accident on a British Man-of-War.
Athens, Nov. 11.—A terrible gun accident occurred on board the British battleship Royal Sovereign, outside of Astoria harbor. An artilleryman forgot to close the breech before the gun was fired. One officer and six artillerymen were killed outright, the bodies being terribly mutilated, and the captain and 15 sailors were seriously injured.

Boy's Pastime.
Devil's Lake, N. D., Nov. 11.—The 12-year-old son of William Barber of Cary, stationed at the window of his home, with a shotgun shot Burt Cray, a 12-year-old boy who was passing by, through the apex of the right lung, and it is feared that the boy will die. The Barber boy, who had just previously shot at Miles Miller, whom he missed, seemed to think he was having a good time and did not realize the gravity of his act.

Postoffice Entered.
Somerset, Ky., Nov. 11.—Robbers forced an entrance into the postoffice at Burnside, nine miles south of this place. The safe, containing $500 in cash and stamps, was shattered with dynamite. Alfred Roberts, who was rooming over the office, was awakened by the explosion, and at once opened fire on the burglars with a Winchester rifle. They escaped uninjured and left their booty scattered on the floor.

Killed His Critic.
Lexington, Ky., Nov. 11.—John Brown, a negro Democrat, went into a saloon, and when a bunch of negro Republicans referred to him sneeringly as one of their "nigger Democrats," he walked out on the street and one of his critics followed. Jim Murray was the follower. Brown pulled out a revolver and fatally shot Murray.

Fired to Frighten.
Wilmington, O., Nov. 11.—John Pennington, while under arrest on the charge of larceny, attempted to escape. Marshal Sliker fired at the ground to frighten Pennington, but the bullet glanced and struck the man in the head, killing him instantly.

Shaft Burned.
Spring Valley, Ill., Nov. 11.—The escape shaft to No. 1 mine burned down, causing a loss of $10,000 to the Spring Valley Coal company. There were thirty miners at work below but they escaped. Seven hundred men are thrown out of work.

Decided by Lot.
Marsfield, Ky., Nov. 11.—The vote for police judge at Dover was a tie between Editor Stairs of The News and Editor Curran of The Messenger. The contest was decided by lot, and Curran got the office on the first draw.

GIANTS

Of the Ring Ready for the Contest.

Both Anxious for the Sound- ing of the Gong.

Rules to Govern the Contest Agreed Upon With the Referee, Harry Corbett—Ruhlin Gaining in Favor.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Both Jeffries and Ruhlin are ready for the gong to sound Friday night. They are doing light work in the gymnasium and on the road to keep in condition. Delaney and Madden have had a conference with Referee Harry Corbett over the rules that will govern the fight. It has been agreed that the men in a clinch shall break away at the order of the referee, and that they shall protect themselves in getting away. The referee, however, will interpret the rules so that the contest will not develop into a hugging match. The fight will be preceded by two four-round preliminaries between local fighters. It is planned to bring the big men into the ring at 9:15 p. m. The betting is light yet, but Ruhlin seems to be gaining slightly in favor and has some backing at 2 to 1.

General Hamilton's Mission.
London, Nov. 11.—Major General Ian Hamilton, who sailed Saturday for South Africa to act as Lord Kitchener's chief of staff, takes a plan prepared in London for a more vigorous campaign, with a view of ending the war before the coronation festivities begin. "General Hamilton's appointment," says The Daily News, "is part of a plan arranged after the king's return from the continent about six weeks ago. Unless Lord Kitchener should decline to be complaisant, the new scheme is likely to develop about the beginning of the year."

Monasteries in Philippines.
London, Nov. 11.—Referring to the departure of Mgr. Sbarretti from Havana and of Mgr. Chapelle from Rome, the correspondent of The Daily Chronicle at the Italian capital says the latter left without having completed his mission of settling the question of the monasteries in the Philippines, and that the Vatican, having decided to continue the status quo, is sending the former ecclesiastic to the Philippines "to endeavor to arrange an agreement between the Philippines and the American government."

Marshal Used His Gun.
Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 11.—Newton Innes was shot and instantly killed by William Mohler, the city marshal of Atlanta, a town 12 miles south of here. Innes had been drinking, and when the marshal attempted to send him home Innes drew a knife and slashed the officer across the arm. Mohler drew his revolver and fired, the bullet piercing Innes' heart. Mohler was taken in custody by the sheriff. He claims self-defense.

VOTE

Cast in Ohio Last Tuesday

Will Not Reach

That Cast in the Election of '88.

Greatest Shortage is Found in the Ranks of the Democracy.

The Total Vote was a Quarter of a Million Behind That Cast in the National Election of Last Year.

Cincinnati, Nov. 11.—With almost half of the official returns from the 88 counties in Ohio received, it is estimated that the total vote may be 100,000 less than for governor two years ago, when $20,872 votes were cast, and almost a quarter of a million less than for president last year, when the total vote of Ohio was 1,049,121. Notwithstanding the increase in population during the past 13 years, the total vote will likely be much less than for president in 1888, when it was $1,941, and probably less than has been cast for governor since that time, with a single exception. The returns show that the greatest shortage was among the Democrats outside of the cities, and it is still variously attributed to the silver question, prevailing prosperity, the death of McKinley, endorsement of President Roosevelt, Governor Nash and Senator Foraker and other causes.

Paymaster Robbed.
Panama, Fla., Nov. 11.—Paymaster Stevens of the United States army arrived in this place from Atlanta, and before leaving that city placed in a hand satchel 200 silver dollars and $4,800 in paper money for the purpose of paying the several hundred artillerymen at Fort Barancas and McKen their salaries for the past month. When he reached the fort here he opened his grip and found all the paper money had been abstracted. Paymaster Stevens thinks some professional pickpockets followed him and relieved him during the trip. He can not recall a single incident of the trip that would lead to anything on the robbery, but has an idea the money was taken before he left Atlanta.

Coal and Coke Works Damaged.
Pittsburg, Nov. 11.—The fire at the works of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company at Six Mile ferry was less disastrous than at first reported. When the flames were finally subdued it was found that enough of the works had been saved to reduce the loss from $100,000, as expected, to $25,000. Five hundred men will be thrown out of employment until the tipple is rebuilt.

TERMS

Of Peace Decided Upon For the Boers.

Will be Prepared and Circulated.

England Will Have to Make Concessions to the Brave Fighters.

Must Pay for the Burned Farms and Restore Boer Prisoners to Liberty—Dr. Leyds is in Charge of Plans.

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—After various conferences at Hilversum, where former President Kruger is stopping, peace terms which the Boers will accept have been outlined. The proposed terms are: First, Amnesty for all rebels. Second, the restoration of prisoners and withdrawal of troops. Third, compensation for burned farms. Fourth, a convention providing autonomy for the Boer republics which shall be guaranteed by France and Russia. Fifth, cession to England of the Witwatersrand gold fields in lieu of the Boer indemnity. Dr. Leyds, the European agent will embody these terms in a formal document for circulation among the powers.

HOPES

And Aims of the Irish Leaders

Defined by Distinguished Men From Abroad.

Great Meeting Held by the United Irish League in Boston.—Speeches by Redmond and Others.

Boston, Nov. 11.—Ireland's hopes and aims were told in dramatic language to 8,000 men and women in Mechanics' hall by the Irish envoys, Hon. John P. Redmond, Hon. P. A. McHugh and Hon. Thomas O'Donnell. This great gathering was directed by the United Irish league, and the presiding officer was William Lloyd Garrison. Mr. Redmond said that for 18 years he had been engaged in and out of the house of commons, in many countries and in the prison cell for the Irish cause. He gave a detailed account of the work of uniting the various factions which has resulted in the United Irish league. He and his colleagues had come to America to proclaim three things: First, the unity of the Irish race; second, to explain the policy of the United Irish league; third, to ask for the moral and material support from the Irish race in America, from their descendants and the American people themselves.

Dangerous Fire.
Newcastle, Pa., Nov. 11.—The plant of the Lawrence Ice and Storage company was completely gutted by fire. The damage amounts to fully $150,000. The plant was only completed and operations begun this fall, and all the expensive machinery was destroyed, only the bare walls being left standing. More than 28,000 pounds of ammonia was stored in the plant, and the fears of explosion hindered the firemen. The fire started in the oil room and the watchman tried to fight the blaze alone until too late.

Thrown From His Horse.
Mt. Sterling, Ky., Nov. 11.—Lewis W. Young, a wealthy stock owner, came to his death in a very peculiar manner. He went hunting and later his body was found in a creek. He was 81 years old, and the supposition is that in watering his horse the animal became frightened and threw him into the pond. Young was feeble, and the additional weight of his overcoat prevented him reaching his horse.

Freight House Consumed.
Cincinnati, Nov. 11.—The shipping freight shed of the Kentucky Central division of the Louisville and Nashville railway and the freight house of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway at Third and Rose street, together with many freight cars and contents, were burned. Loss over $100,000.

Challenged to a Duel.
Havana, Nov. 11.—The papers assert that Senor Tamayo, secretary of state and government, has been challenged to fight a duel by a member of the Union club whom, it is said, Senor Tamayo and a friend assaulted at the close of the recent banquet given by the Cuban society to the visiting Chileans. Senor Tamayo was detained by the police but ultimately released by the civil government.

Tragedy in Church.
Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 11.—At a colored church near Hopkinsville, during services, Henry Davis quarreled with Abe Allen, with whom he was occupying the same pew. Davis shot at Allen with his pistol. The bullet missed Allen but pierced the heart of Jerry Wilson, on the opposite side of the church, and killed him instantly. Davis was arrested.

Spain's Election Riots.
Barcelona, Nov. 11.—The municipal elections here were attended by bloodshed and excitement. Revolver shots were exchanged and one person was killed and 40 others wounded. The municipal elections throughout Spain have resulted in a large majority for the supporters of the government. Disorder is expected at Bilbao.

'Bus Held Up.
Valley City, N. D., Nov. 11.—While a bus was on its way to North Valley City it was held up by masked men, and of the 17 passengers aboard the vehicle about half of them lost money and other valuables, the amount secured being about $400. The robbers after securing their booty escaped.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TURK

Accedes to Demand of France.

Toes the Mark

And Brings the Dispute to an End.

Diplomatic Negotiations Renewed by the Two Governments.

France is Fully Satisfied by the Attitude and Action of the Porte and the Warships Will Raise Anchor.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The French foreign office has announced that the sultan has signed an order for the execution of his engagements with the French government, and that the Franco-Turkish dispute is now at an end. Tewfik racha, Ottoman minister of foreign affairs, wrote a letter to M. Bapst, councillor of the French embassy in Constantinople, notifying him of the signing of the trade, which, while settling the original French demands, also accepts the fresh demands, together with an additional clause by which sultan pledges himself to consider as authorized in full right the foundations, extensions, constructions and repairs of the schools and religious and hospital establishments which France may desire to carry out if the porte is advised of her intentions and makes no objection within five months.

France has thus far received full satisfaction and M. Deleasse, on the receipt of M. Bapst's dispatch, telegraphed him to inform Tewfik Pacha that diplomatic relations had been resumed and that M. Bapst should consider himself as regularly charged with the affairs of the embassy.

Instructions were also sent to Admiral Caillaud at Mytilene to re-embark the marines and to return to Greek waters, which is understood to mean the villages of the island of Syra. Admiral Caillaud will remain in the Levant some time longer. M. Constant, the French ambassador, will return to Constantinople very shortly. The additional clause was concluded at the request of France in order to prevent future difficulties such as the Turkish provincial authorities have often raised, either on their own initiative or in consequence of instructions by the porte. The Temps describes the result as "a brilliant victory for French diplomacy."

BRIGANDS

May Kill Miss Stone, Their American Missionary Prisoner.

The Chase Still Continues.

Bulgarian Government to be Held Responsible for the Life of the Missionary. The American Consul Makes Some Representations.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 11.—Information has been received here from Doubuitza that the band of brigands holding captive Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, called about a fortnight ago at the village of Smetchevo, and subsequently proceeded to the monastery of Elio, but the movements of the troops compelled the brigands to flee toward the frontier, where they are now in hiding. It is also asserted that the brigands have recently been treating Miss Stone with more severity in order to exercise pressure and to compel a more ready acceptance of their conditions. Consul General Dickinson is inflexible. He insists that the surrender of Miss Stone must precede or be simultaneous with the payment of the ransom. Dickinson's attitude is justified by the known determination of some members of the band, particularly the captain, Yanne Sanadansky, to kill Miss Stone and her companion as soon as the ransom is received, owing to the fact that the captives have now acquired information concerning the secret committees. Competent persons, however, express the opinion that the cupidty of the brigands will overcome their fear of revelations, and all such approve the declaration of Mr. Dickinson.

Mr. Dickinson has made energetic representations to the Bulgarian government against the movements of the Bulgarian troops, reproaching the officials with the fact that, notwithstanding their solemn promises to give all assistance in their power, their action was embarrassing the negotiations, retarding a settlement and placing in jeopardy the life of Miss Stone. He made a definite declaration that the Bulgarian government would be held responsible for the death of Miss Stone and of all the consequences of her death, should it be proved that the attitude of the Bulgarian government forced the brigands to kill their captives.

The New Star.
San Jose, Cal., Nov. 11.—W. W. Campbell of the Lick observatory has issued a bulletin regarding a recent and somewhat important discovery made by Professor Perrino, an attaché of the observatory, on Mount Hamilton, in reference to the new star in the constellation Perseus. This star appeared suddenly and unexpectedly last February, having been discovered by Anderson in Edinburgh. In some four days its brightness increased from invisibility in ordinary telescopes until it became the brightest star in the northern sky. The star's atmosphere was violently disturbed, as shown by a study of its spectrum in the spring months, and since June at least the spectroscopic has shown that it is now a nebula, though retaining to the eye and in the telescope the point-like form of an ordinary star.

Everett-Moore Syndicate.
Cleveland, Nov. 11.—Henry A. Everett of the Everett-Moore syndicate returned from New York, where he has been in conference with trustees of the Detroit United Railway company and members of the Everett-Moore syndicate. He said that a mountain had been made out of a mole hill in regard to the New York conference, and that aside from ratifying the original plans of the syndicate with reference to the Detroit United railway line was done. He said that a dividend of $5,000,000 to cover the underlying revenue of the Detroit United was decided upon. He said further that it was not true that the syndicate intended to extend its system at the present time.

Naughty Milwaukeee.
Milwaukee, Nov. 11.—An anti-vice crusade is on in this city. A committee of three appointed by the Milwaukee Ministerial association, which has been making an investigation for several weeks, made its report public. The report alleges that 32 "wide open" gambling houses are doing business, and that there are in operation 116 saloons with wine rooms and 16 cant are connected with questionable resorts. The report exonerates the police from suspicion of deriving any revenue as a result of the alleged wholesale disregard for law, and hints that they are hindered from the proper performance of their duty by "restraint from high places."

Miners Reinstated.
Scranton, Pa., Nov. 11.—The community is greatly relieved by the action of the Temple Iron company in reinstating the alleged blacklisted men, and thereby averting a strike of its 5,000 miners. What prompted the company to change its position can not be ascertained, as none of the officials will discuss the matter. District President Nicholas of the mine workers expressed the opinion that the Temple company made the concession at the instance of other big companies, who feared a general strike.

American Jockey Disqualified.
Paris, Nov. 11.—C. T. ("Boots")

Durnell, the American jockey and trainer, has been disqualified for life by the jockey club on the ground that he deliberately remained at the post at St. Cloud, Oct. 28, when he rode Lordress in the prix de Marly-le-Roi. Durnell protests that his remaining at the post was due to a misunderstanding. He says he has ridden for years in the United States, but has never been summoned before the stewards.

Callahan says his home is in Cleveland.

American Vessels Seized.
London, Nov. 11.—The Exchange Telegraph company has received a dispatch from Lisbon announcing that a Portuguese gunboat has seized the American schooners Nettie and Lottie at Horta, island of Fayal, for clandestinely conveying 26 emigrants who were trying to avoid military service.

General Lukban's Terms.
Manila, Nov. 11.—According to advices from Catabalogan, capital of the island of Samar, the insurgent leader Lukban has sent a message to General Smith declaring that he will not listen to negotiations for surrender until all the Americans have withdrawn from the Gandara valley. General Smith has ordered every American soldier in the island of Samar and the island of Leyte never to be without arms, even at meal-time. He is determined that there shall be no more surprises, and commanding officers will be held responsible. General Smith also directs that scouting must continue incessantly and that all rice and hemp captured must be destroyed. He considers the capture of Lukban only a question of a very short time.

WHAT

The New Purchase Means

To C. H. & D.

Possession of F. Ft. W
& W. the Connection

Road May Still Continue to Handle Cincinnati and
Ft. Wayne Traffic.

Deal Has Not yet Been Consummated But Officials Do Not Deny
It Will Probably Go Through.

Recent developments go to show what induced the Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Dayton company to purchase the Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western.
The former road, through its traffic alliance with the Lake Erie and Western, enjoys a fair share of the travel and freight business between Cincinnati and Fort Wayne. This arrangement is about to be broken off by the owners of the Lake Erie and Western, and to continue the traffic, which is very heavy at times, the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton will establish a line of its own into Fort Wayne. An item which appeared in Saturday
morning's issue of the Indianapolis Journal throws some light upon the subject. The items read as follows:
"An arrangement has been perfected by which the White Water Valley road will be made a more profitable connecting link in the Vanderbilt system.
The tracks of the White Water division of the Big Four for eight miles between Connersville and Cambridge City and those of the Lake Erie and Western paralleled each other. Four miles of each is to be abandoned and the Lake Erie and Western and Big Four will use the same tracks, and through service will be established between Cincinnati and Fort Wayne over the Big Four and Lake Erie and Western, the latter gaining entrance to Cincinnati over the Big Four lines.
For years past the Lake Erie and Western has done its Cincinnati business over the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, both freight and passenger. Now it is stated, the entire traffic will be turned over to the Big Four at Connersville and the freight depot and passenger station at Con-nersville used by both lines. This is an outgrowth, of course, of the combination of Vanderbilt interests to do the business on a more economical basis. Of late steam shovels have been put to work and a considerable mileage of steel rails laid on the White Water division preparatory to this change. This means, it is stated the consolidation of some of the agencies and an improved service between Ft. Wayne and Cincinnati whenever the condition of the track between Cambridge City and the junction of the White Water Valley with the Big Four is improved. Since constructed the White Water Valley has been something of a burden on the Big Four and it is believed that under the present arrangement it can be made a profitable adjunct to the system.
The through trains from Cincinnati will probably be run so as to connect with the new trains the Big Four and the Lake Erie and Western are to put on between Indianapolis and Fort Wayne November 17."

L. E. & W. Changes.
Chief clerk Hall, of Sup't Thomas' office, has been appointed a dispatcher and a brother-in-law of Mr. Thomas will succeed him as chief clerk. Mr.
Payne, who has been working a trick
as a dispatcher will assume the duties of night yard clerk and operator at the yard office.

General Notes.
The new union passenger station that the Lake Erie and Western and the Big Four are building jointly at Muncie is ready for the roof.

Engineer Frank Miller has returned home from Findlay where he went to relieve engineer Tarbuton of the Lake Erie & Western. The latter has been sick for several weeks, but is now able to take hold of the throttle of the 95 again.

Train dispatcher Tharp, of the C. H.
& D., is enjoying a visit from his mother, whose home is in Washington,
C. H.

An L. E. & W. work train was sent over to Findlay Saturday to clean up the yards of the old rails that have been replaced by heavy steel ones.
The old iron was loaded on cars and is being shipped to Joseph Bros., of Cincinnati, who have purchased the greater part of the cast-off rails at the junk price. The section crews from Beaver Dam did the work and got through about 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The change of schedule on the western division of the L. E. & W. will bring into service a parlor and buffet car, it is said that will rival anything in the country. The company is going to give special attention to this division of the road and it will be placed on an equal footing with its competitors.

At the remodeled C. H. & D depot on north Main street, work was commenced Friday in laying a broad vitrified brick walk-way ten feet wide in from the street and clear around the passenger structure says the Findlay Courier. This will serve as a platform and by using the paved block, it is possible for vehicles to drive across it, where necessary in the case of the rear. This improvement will still leave a plot of ground to the side of the station toward Main street and the plans on the new building call for this being laid out in a little park.

In the construction of the Western Ohio electric line, part of which system will be between Findlay and Lima there are eleven crossings planned over the right of way of the L. E. & W. between Lima and Celina. Two of these near Lima and Bluffton, will be overhead, but the construction of the trestles has not been caused by any antagonism on the part of the steam road, for it has contributed to

THE Y. M. C. A.

Throughout the World Will Observe
This Week as the Week of Prayer. for Men.

It is with peculiar interest that we issue the customary annual call to prayer in the jubilee year of association work on this continent. The recent memorable anniversary in Boston is fresh in our minds, and as we review the fifty years of history, what cause for devout thanksgiving. God has blessed the movement far beyond the expectation of its most earnest friends.

"We stand now on the threshold of a second half century. The possibilities before us are wonderful; the obligation and responsibilities are very great. We need wisdom, strength, courage, guidance. There is one source only whence these can come.
What need, then, for earnest, united, trustful prayer. In view of this,
things, may not the association brotherhood of North America be a unit
the present year—our jubilee year—
in faithfully observing this time-honored season of devotion."

The week, Nov. 11 to 16 will be observed in the Lima association by a series of strong addresses by some of the pastors of our city and the prayer and song service each evening will be in charge of the pastors also.

All men are cordially invited. 7 p.

Audience Heard the Sermon to the

A. O. U. W.,

Delivered Yesterday at South Side Church.

A Bully Imposed Upon Small Boy in a Most Brutal Manner.

The Nimrods from the South Side are Out in Force Today Trying to Bag Some Quail.

Last night the south Lima Christian church was tested to its capacity to accommodate the large audience to hear Rev. Sims deliver the address to the United Workmen upon the thirty-third anniversary of the order's organization. Promptly at seven o'clock the workmen with their wives occupied the place assigned them. The women's services were commenced with the singing of the opening ode of the order. Special numbers were rendered by the choir. Mr. Sims took for his text 1 Cor. 13, 13: "And now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three, but the greatest of these is charity." He demonstrated the ascending scale of love from the lowest selfish passion to the highest spiritual phase found in Christian love, which is acquired by the love of parent for the child and patriot for home and country, and the Christian martyr for his persecutors in this scale. Philanthropic institutions are in the second step and all borrow their light from the love that gave Christ for men. The struggles of primitive Christianity in sufferings which are duplicated now in mission fields furnished the illustrated peroration which moved many to tears.

Yesterday morning along the C. H. & D. railway just south of east Kibby street, a small boy whose name was not ascertained was nearly choked to death by a bully about seventeen years of age. The little fellow falling in with the crowd of rowdies was taken up by the ring leader, who thought to compel the child to eat a large quantity of raw cabbage. Unable to do so, the lad was thrown down, the vegetable being crushed down his throat. Some elderly gentleman who protested was promptly fastened in a near by stable. The case of young things then witnessed the nature of the boy until another man in the neighborhood interfered, threatening their arrest. By this time the subject of this cruelty was almost unconscious from the rough treatment. The man fastened in the building got out about this time but was unable to learn any of the ruffians names.

Saturday evening a fellow in south Lima claiming Chicago as his home interested a number by his feats of physical endurance. He proved himself to be as he claimed, a human pin cushion. His wrist and arms were literally filled with pins of various sizes to the amazement of the witnesses. He performed a number of other harrowing feats by which means it is said he secured quite a snug contribution.

Saturday evening Miss Kate Cross entertained a number of friends at her home in various pleasant manners. Customary party events made the occasion enjoyable.

Marvin Rater, a twelve year old boy residing on south Main street fell from a shed yesterday afternoon while playing, fracturing his right arm near the wrist.

Despite the inclement weather a number of south Lima hunters are out today in quest of quail. Some of the more enthusiastic nimrods could not wait until today leaving yesterday to be early in the field. Among them are Captain John Mack, of the south Lima fire department; Elmer Marshall, champion shot of the south

WU'S EULOGY OF LI.

Chinese Minister's Tribute to the Deceased Viceroy.

WAS CHINA'S GRAND OLD MAN.

Only One Who Could Deal With Problems Constantly Arising in His Country, Declares Wu Ting Fang, Incidents Connected With Earl Li's Visit to This Country—Plants Tree at General Grant's Tomb—Visit to Mrs. Grant.

Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister at Washington, was greatly shocked when he heard of the death of Li Hung Chang.

"Oh, this is too bad, too bad!" he exclaimed. "It will be a frightful blow to China. I hope the news is not true. I hope Li Hung Chang will be left to serve his country many years, for his country needs him now if she ever needed him, brilliant as he been his services in the past."

"For more than forty years," said Minister Wu, "Li Hung Chang has been in the service of the Chinese government. He is the 'Grand Old Man' of our country. There is none like him, and it will be generations before another will come up to take his place."

"I know the man. I served under him. I was taught by him. He recommended me for promotion and put me in line for the advancement that finally sent me as minister to the United States."

"His experience was vast, and in all China Li Hung Chang alone of all our statesmen has been the one man who could deal with the problems constantly arising in the field of diplomacy, our civil relations with others and the conduct of our army and navy. He has been progressive and yet conservative."

"The new China of today is the result of his genius, his foresight and his indomitable will. All the sensible reforms inaugurated in our country are due to him."

"He built the first railroad, the first telegraph. He opened the first mine that gave promise of developing the mineral industries of the empire—the Kaiping mine."

"He originated the modern navy, the modern drill and improved tactics in the army. It was Li Hung Chang who employed General Gordon."

"In short, it was Li Hung Chang who did everything to make China progressive, and it was his will and his will alone, aided by a few who believe in his genius, that pressed upon China the few modern ideas she has accepted and made it possible for her to shake off some of the burdens that clung to her for many centuries."

"Li Hung Chang had the foresight to see the superiority of foreign appliances, apply them to his own country and use them to the advancement and betterment of his own people. He would have done more and would have made China a powerful nation and a strong people had it not been for the opposition of certain members of the imperial cabinet, who, looking at things through the narrow light they possessed, saw only harm in the progressive ideas of Li Hung Chang, who knew the world and realized the danger that would come to China if at any time China should be brought into conflict with the outer world, of which our people knew so little."

"He was opposed to the war with Japan because he knew what the result would be. Li Hung Chang had suppressed native rebels successfully, but he knew what it meant to cope with a superior force. His advice was not heeded, and when the disaster came he was humiliated and made to suffer because the advice he had given had not been heeded."

"His death will be bad for China. She needs his advice and counsel more now perhaps than ever before."

Li Hung Chang visited the United States in 1898 and was the recipient of many courtesies, official and otherwise. One of the notable incidents of his visit was the planting of a jinkgo tree, a native of China and Japan, at the tomb of General Grant, in Riverside park, in New York. The tree is still flourishing there. Its queer palm shaped leaves without a rib are familiar to those who notice trees, for it grows readily in our climate. Perhaps the extreme simplicity of General Grant's manners touched a kindred chord, for notwithstanding the elaborate etiquette of China which Li Hung always followed, he was a man of very simple habits.

During Li Hung Chang's sojourn in this country he called upon Mrs. U. S. Grant, who has thus referred to the visit.

"The visit of his excellency Li Hung Chang to me was the renewal of an acquaintance made in China when General Grant and I were traveling around the world. Li Hung Chang always had the warmest admiration and friendship for the general, and his excellency asked to visit me as the widow of the general, his friend."

"When we were in China, Li and the general became friends. The premier extended every courtesy to us. He has been very progressive and is so liberal that while we were there he allowed his wife, the late Lady Li, to give a dinner to me. Lady Li was a lovely character and of liberal mind."

"The palace was magnificent, and everything about the dinner was the perfection of good taste. It was given in European style on a European dining table, and I was told the service for the dinner, which was extremely handsome, was bought for the occasion. It was the first time Lady Li had ever entertained an English speaking woman."

"Li Hung Chang is a wonderful man and has done much for China. He is one of the greatest men living today. He always said it was destined that he and the general should be friends. They were born the same year; he says, I believe, under the same planets also, and it was destiny that each should attain greatness."

"He felt a very deep regard toward the general and sent me a very touching letter at the time of the general's death. With all his greatness Li Hung Chang is a man of very tender and deep feelings. He was one of the very first to contribute to the fund for the general's tomb, and the warmth that has been placed there annually by representatives of China has been due to his strong attachment to the general's memory."

"We have maintained a desultory correspondence. When the death of the first Lady Li occurred, I wrote to him expressing my sympathy. Naturally the meeting at my son's has many painful memories."

"It is really a great compliment that the viceroy pays when he asks one's age. This, however, occasioned several droll experiences with members of our party when we were traveling in China. When the viceroy asked me, I answered as I had intended to, 'Just four years younger than your excellency.' He and General Grant were of the same age."

"When we were in China, the viceroy made the general some beautiful gifts. I am not sure whether any of them are in the National museum collection in Washington or not. One of the gifts was a magnificent coat of sable. I have the sable now."

Earl Li was very much interested in General Grant, who in turn is known to have had a high opinion of the viceroy. In fact, the two men seem to have recognized each other as capable men of affairs. The Chinese followed the sad story of Grant's passing away with sympathy, and in after years Li was fond of making an odd and not at all necessary application of Grant's circumstances to his own case. Li had an abrasion on his tongue, the origin of which was obscure for a time, and there was a possibility of some throat difficulty similar to that of Grant's. He seemed to be rather proud of the historical parallel than otherwise, and perhaps thought that the conquerors of the two greatest rebellions in history ought to reach the Elysian fields by the same route. The viceroy's difficulty proved to have an entirely different origin, however, and was, in fact, merely a local trouble of no importance.

Li Hung Chang almost suffered death at the hands of General Gordon. The story is worth telling because it portrays an ingrained spirit of treachery which no doubt lurked in his nature. When the head of the Taiping rebellion had been practically broken and the chiefs of the rebel army were making a final stand in the city of Suifu, General Gordon obtained Li Hung Chang's consent to pardon the leaders on condition that the city would surrender unconditionally. The terms were named, the city capitulated, but what was Gordon's astonishment to find on the following morning that Li Hung Chang had invited the leaders to his tent and while they were partaking of his hospitality had barbarously massacred them.

Gordon's fury knew no bounds. The deceitful general, it is said, followed Li Hung Chang with a loaded revolver along the city walls, and the Chinese commander escaped being shot by taking shelter in the house of a friend. The subsequent friendship (twenty years afterward) which subsisted between the two has always been an enigma to the friends of Gordon and can be accounted for only by Gordon's deep religiousness and his desire to forgive.

The story goes that when Li Hung Chang was in England an admirer sent him a specially fine bull terrier, intended to watch over the veteran statesman's declining years. The following letter—so the story goes—was received in acknowledgment:

My Dear —: While tendering my best thanks for sending me your dog I beg to say that, for myself, I have long since given up the practice of eating dog's flesh, but my attendants, to whom I handed the creature, tell me they never tasted anything so nice.

TRADE UNIONIST MAYOR.

Orchestra Leader Who Will Preside Over Union's Exercises.

San Francisco has a new mayor who is a trade unionist. His name is Eugene E. Schmitz, and he was the Union Labor party's candidate.

Schmitz is only thirty-six years old and has had no previous experience in public life. He is a professional musician and has been for several years leader of the Columbia theater orchestra. He is also manager of a gas engine machine company. In outlining his policy he said:

"I shall enter the mayor's chair absolutely unpugged to any organization or any man. I wish to state to the merchants and financiers of San Francisco that they need entertain no fears as to any action on my part tending to radical or revolutionary policy. I shall give invested capital the consideration which is due it, and shall try to harmonize all interests which stand for the upbuilding of San Francisco. All classes shall have full and fair consideration."

"It shall be my concern to see that the interests of the laboring men and organizations are fairly safeguarded, but in this there can be no detriment to legitimate business enterprise. My motto is: 'Equal rights to all and special privileges to none.' Business men need not fear, for I am of a conservative disposition and shall conduct a conservative administration."

MONEY KINGS' FEUD.

Battle Royal Between Keene and Whitney Carried to Polls.

HOW THE QUARREL STARTED.

Why the Tammany Defeat in New York City Bled One and Depressed the Other—Story of a Bitter Rivalry in Wall Street, on the Turf and in Politics.

To James R. Keene the success of the fusion ticket at the late election in New York came as a soothing balm, says the New York Herald. To him the overthrow of the Tammany organization signified mainly the discomfiture of William C. Whitney, who had espoused the Shepard cause and between whom and himself there exists a feud in finance, in sport and in politics so bitter in its intensity that any cause championed by Mr. Whitney is sure to find an opponent in Mr. Keene.

Strange stories are told in Wall street of the assistance rendered to the fusion candidates, and especially to William Travers Jerome, by Mr. Keene. The well known operator is said to have opened his purse on the very day that Mr. Whitney declared for Shepard, and he is credited with generous contributions to the campaign fund.

But, what is of more importance, Mr. Keene is said to have aided Mr. Jerome with advice, given through mutual friends, and to have kept him informed concerning certain happenings in which he believed the fusion candidate's interests were involved.

It transpires that friends of Mr. Keene furnished Judge Jerome with the information that Senator Platt and Mr. Whitney had met in the office of Thomas F. Ryan, it was asserted, to plan his defeat and that Judge Jerome's attack on Platt and Whitney was inspired from the same quarter.

Whatever part Mr. Keene may have played, his motives are easily traced by men in Wall street. It was said by those professing to know that the conference between Senator Platt and Mr. Whitney had no direct bearing on Judge Jerome's candidacy, but that Mr. Keene's friends, recognizing in the candidate for district attorney an able ally, concluded to array him against Mr. Whitney by telling only half the truth.

At all events, Mr. Keene and his friends see in the result of the election a personal triumph over Mr. Whitney and his associates in the Metropolitan Street Railway company, and they rejoice accordingly.

Bad feeling between Mr. Keene and Mr. Whitney was engendered in the spring of 1898, having its origin in Mr. Keene's manipulation of Metropolitan stock. At that time there was a pool in this stock, and Mr. Keene was the field marshal of the traction forces on the floor of the Stock Exchange. He engineered a bull movement in the security, and on Feb. 14 Metropolitan touched 17½. Suddenly and without warning that day a large quantity of the stock was thrown on the market, and the price broke to 15.

It was seven months later that the real break in the relations of Mr. Whitney and the pool manager occurred. This time there was no quibbling; charges of bad faith were made on both sides and the foundation was laid for the feud, which has been waged bitterly ever since.

For several months Mr. Keene had been manipulating the stock of the American Tobacco company, in which Mr. Whitney and his friends were largely interested. Under his guidance quotations had been raised to an unprecedented level, and in the latter part of September, 1898, plans for controlling the tobacco industry of the country and executing a sensational coup in the stock market were well under way. Mr. Keene was the only member of the pool to figure openly in this transaction.

Mr. Keene himself explained the situation in an interview published in The Herald at the time.

"The defection of any one large holder of tobacco stock," he said, "would naturally produce serious consequences in the market. When the most indubitable evidence was furnished to me that one or two members of the pool had sold I sold my stock, and it fell promptly, at between $145 and $130 a share."

Mr. Keene is said to have purchased his stock—some forty thousand shares—at approximately $87 a share, and his profits were estimated to be not far from $1,500,000. Mr. Whitney's brother-in-law, Oliver H. Payne, and Messrs. Duke, Schley and Terrell, representing various interests, were seriously embarrassed by Mr. Keene's precipitate selling, which upset—for the time being at least—the ambitious plans of the pool.

When taken to task by Mr. Whitney, as the Wall street legend runs, Mr. Keene is said to have puffed his cigar nonchalantly and replied: "Why, certainly I sold. When I go into a race of this kind, I never permit myself to be left at the post."

Whatever the facts may be it is certain that no quarter has been given in the battle royal in which these gladiators of finance have been engaged since the fall of 1898 on the floor of the Stock Exchange, on the turf and in the arena of politics. Marshaling his forces at every favorable opportunity, Mr. Keene has so disposed them as to thwart the financial projects of his adversary. As a patron of the turf he has disbursed a fortune to possess himself of horses more fleet than those of Mr. Whitney; in politics his sympathies have run counter to those of the principal secretary of the navy.

CASES

That Have Been Carried Up

Will be Heard

By the Judges of Circuit Court This Week.

Session Begins Tomorrow and Important Matters Will be Considered.

The Question as to Whether Clem Dickman is Entitled to a New Trial Will be One of the Points to Settle.

Common pleas court gives way this week to the circuit court, and the judges will be here to start the mill to grinding tomorrow. The docket for the November term calls for several cases, the most important of which from a general point of view, being the decision in the Clem Dickman manslaughter case. Dickman is now under sentence, but the term of the years given him by Judge Armstrong was suspended pending the finding of the circuit court. Several of the recently tried damage suits against local railroads will also be argued again before the higher court.

Partition Suit.
Willy & Downing have begun an action in partition on behalf of Matilda Wood, naming Geo. H. Ray et al. as defendants. The property consists of two tracts of land in Jackson township, aggregating 110 acres, and a small section in Liberty township, Hardin county. The plaintiff claims a one-fifth interest.

Want Pay for Services.
Samuel Dunlap and his wife, Abigail, back through the courts to recover from the administrator of the estate of Louisa Carman, the sum of $1,067.75 for services rendered to the deceased during her lifetime. The latter was a sister of Abigail Dunlap, and for twenty years before her death was insane. Eight years of that time she was violent and became a helpless charge, making it necessary for some one to be at her bedside almost constantly. The plaintiffs claim that they took care of her during that trying period and made a demand for the above sum which the administrator refused to pay. The case is now in the hands of attorney Horace A. Reese, of Delphos, who will prosecute the claim.

In Probate Court.
Margaret Solomon, guardian of Isaac Paul, John W. Mangus, guardian of Francis Gallespie and Daniel Waltz, guardian of Hazel Gallespie, have filed petitions in probate court asking permission to lease land for drilling purposes. The property lies near Beaverdam in Richland township.

Real Estate Transfers.
F. M. Curry to John W. Clark, in lot 34, Beaverdam, $275.
Warren P. Melly to Shirley N. Longworth, in lot 5128, Melly's west Wayne street addition, $350.
Eugenia Melly to Shirley N. Longworth, in lot 5129, Melly's west Wayne street addition, $400.

CAPTURED

After a Search of Several Weeks.

Julius Brown, Horse Thief, Arrested in Dayton.

He Has Eluded the Officers Since September Last, but is Finally Landed Behind Bars in County Jail.

Constable James Cremon of Justice Duffield's court left yesterday morning for Dayton and returned last evening with a colored man named Julius Brown, a clever individual wanted here for horse stealing.

Brown is the man who was manager of the running horse Osman, entered in the races here during the fair. The horse was attached on account of a claim preferred by Wm. Thompson, who said he had $15 coming for work done on the horse. The horse was taken to the Fisher stable until the matter could be adjusted satisfactorily. Early on the morning of September 28th, it is claimed that Brown, accompanied by a pal or two, went to the Fisher barn and obtained permission to "exercise the horse." It has not been seen in this city since. Several cities and towns in this and surrounding states were notified, resulting in Brown's capture in Dayton a few days ago. The negro had on him a gun, knife and several dollars when captured. To the Dayton police he denied going by the name of Brown but the instant he saw Constable Cremon he acknowledged his deception of identity to the Dayton authorities. The prisoner tried several schemes by which he might settle the difficulty he is now in but at present he is securely locked up in the county jail. The horse, Osman, is owned by Bob Miller, a young man of Lexington, Kentucky.

FRIENDS

Hear from Tom Howell, Formerly of Lima.

He is Engaged in the Advertising Business and is at Present in the Isle of Man.

A friend in Lima has received a letter from Tom Howell, who will be recalled by a number of friends here, who made his acquaintance during a stay of about a year. He is at present at Castletown, Isle of Man, the home of Hall Calne, and he writes interestingly of the little island made famous by the noted author.

Mr. Howell, had the pleasure of meeting this celebrity in the literary and lecture field, and while he refers to him as anything but a handsome man he looks as clever as he is known to be. The town in which Mr. Howell is now located is named after a castle built in 800 B. C. and in the village of 2000 people is a clock presented to the burg by Queen Elizabeth in 1597, which carries only the hour hand, but still keeps excellent time.

Mr. Howell, is in the advertising business and when he furnishes his mission on the Isle of Man, he will go to Germany and France. His mother lives at Liverpool and she was there to meet him on his way from the United States.

SAW

Something of the World

And the Facts

To Prove it Were in His Possession.

Charles Einfalt Proved to be a Very Interesting Person.

And Had no Trouble in Proving That He Did Not Bear the Stamp of a Reckless Criminal.

Chas. Einfalt, the young German who was arrested Friday night by officer Gus Miller on suspicion, and who was thought to be the man who robbed the home of Robert Reese, was released Saturday evening. Einfalt proved to be a most interesting character, and he had the documents on his person to prove everything he said. There is scarcely a country on the globe that he hasn't visited and his brain is a veritable storehouse of information. He is a natural born wanderer, and the only country he cannot visit in safety is that of his native heath.

He is an Austrian by birth, but left the country at the time he was about to be forced into the services of the army. His knowledge of the languages, several of which he speaks fluently, stood him in hand and he soon found employment as a guide with a party of tourists, principal among whom was the father of champion Jeffries. Einfalt has in his possession a half tone engraving which shows him in the costume of a guide, and the familiar figure of Rev. Jeffries is seated in the foreground, with the other members of the party grouped about.

His travels around the world when not engaged as a guide or interpreter, were made possible by services of any kind on board vessels, but usually he shipped in the capacity of assistant cook. His present trip to America, which is not his first, was as a servant on Howard Gould's private yacht. When he landed in New York his first desire was to visit the Pan American and he bought a round trip ticket over the Erie for $5.00, selling the return for $3.50. At Buffalo, he forwarded $5.00 of his money to his own address at Chicago and $20 to San Francisco, for which he produced postoffice receipts. He makes this a practice, and then if he gets broke he hunts work so as not to have to draw on his savings. He was on his way to Chicago when he struck Lima Friday night, but his stopping off here was not of his own choosing. As usual he was riding without a pass, and occupied a hazardous position between two baggage coaches. He had stood up on the narrow ledge for 140 miles, holding on with one hand while keeping the other warm, and twice while in that position he fell into a doze. When he reached Lima he was nearly frozen, and was glad of the opportunity to get lodging at the police station.

In spite of the fact that Einfalt ran away from Austria to escape being forced in to service, he was not so particular when it came to the United States, for he volunteered his services and was on the boat that took the Island of Guam so completely by surprise. He regretted that he should have been suspected of a crime and he certainly gave plenty of evidence that he could get through the world without stooping to dishonesty. As he left the station with the good wishes of his interested audience, he said he would not likely ever come this way again, for while he had not been treated unkindly particularly after having identified himself, he was in too good health to thrive well on three sandwiches a day.

DYNAMITE

Explodes in the Quarry at Middlepoint.

Accident Caused by Dropping of a Crowbar.

Six Men Who were at Work in the Quarry at the Time were Severely Injured by Flying Pieces of Stone.

Saturday while six of the workmen were endeavoring to dislodge a ledge of stone in the quarry at Middlepoint, William Reddington, one of the party, accidentally allowed his crow bar to slip into one of the holes drilled for blasting, and a terrific explosion followed. The report was heard by citizens of Middle Point and a crowd was soon hurrying to the quarry, one mile west of the town, knowing that an accident had occurred, as the whistle at the power house had not sounded a warning previous to the explosion as is customary. Dynamite in two holes was exploded.

Six men were knocked down by the force of the explosion and their skin literally peppered with fine stone. There was a perfect shower of rock, pieces large and small, and how the men escaped with their lives cannot be understood. Wm. Reddington and his son Ed. are the worst injured, and had to be carried out of the quarry. The young man sustained a bad cut in the neck under the chin and another back of his ear, in addition to the wounds made all over his body by the fine stone. Both will recover. John Dagman and Newt Hogland and two Italians whose names were not learned were the other victims, all more or less injured, but glad that they were so fortunate as to escape with their lives.

CONFESSED

To the Charge and Goes to the Work House.

Referring to the arrest of Theodore Randall, a colored resident of this city, who was taken to Van Wert to answer to the charge of adultery preferred by Rev. Jonas Montgomery, of that town, the Van Wert Bulletin furnishes the information that Randall was arraigned before Squire Fridy and pleaded guilty. The court then gave him a nice stiff dose in the work house where he will make brooms for sixty days and then work out an additional fine of $25.

RESTRAINING

Order from the Court Puts a Stop

To Construction Work on the Canal Line.

Complainants Claim Promoters Intend to Operate a Regular Railroad Instead of Canal Boat Traffic.

The construction of the electric canal boat system along the Miami and Erie canal by the Miami and Erie Canal transportation company, owned by the Mandelbaum-Pomeroy syndicate of Cleveland says a dispatch from Hamilton, has been stopped by injunction here. The complainants are Dr. Samuel A. Milliken and Frederick Scholley, who own property along the canal in Fairfield township, and in their petition they raise points which may result in closing up the plans of this enterprise, which have been so much discussed and were made an issue in the state campaign. They aver that the company does not propose to run an electric canal line at all, but are building a railroad along the canal for the hauling of passengers, freight and trains. This they say, is in violation of their grant from the state board of public works, and that the board had no legal power to make such a grant.

FALSE ALARM

Sent in Last Night Gets a Lad Into Trouble.

Early last evening some one sent in a false alarm from box 32 and the central department responded but the harness on the team drawing the hose wagon broke before the team got out of the station, causing considerable delay, and necessitating the calling out of the north side department. The alarm box was damaged by the person who had sent in the false alarm and had to be taken down. Today chief Coates and fireman Galloway arrested a young lad named Lester Childer, who was accused of having sent in the alarm. He denied the accusation and the case will be more fully investigated. The boy was released.

Every Exertion a Task

There is failure of the strength to do and the power to endure; a feeling of weakness all over the body.

The vital functions are impaired, food does not nourish, and the whole system is run down.

A medicine that strengthens the stomach, perfects digestion, invigorates and tones is needed.

What Hood's Sarsaparilla did for Mrs. L. B. Garland, Shelby, Tenn., it has done for others. She took it when she was all run down—without appetite, losing flesh, and unable to do her work. It restored her appetite, increased her weight, and made her well and strong. This is her own unsolicited statement.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. The earlier treatment is begun the better—begin it today.

Glad He Was Fined.

While in New York the other day, whether he went to cast his vote, President Roosevelt received an especially cordial greeting from the police, over whom he some years ago presided as commissioner. At the Jersey City ferry the president and party left their carriages and walked on board the ferryboat, which had only a few other passengers. Drawn up on the boat were four policemen of the harbor squad, detailed as a guard. The president returned their salute as he walked aboard the boat, and then noticed one of them a salute of pleasure crossed his face, and walking up to him he held out his hand.

"Hello, Thompson," he said. "I appointed you, didn't I?"

"Yes, you did, Mr. President," said Thompson, "and I'm mighty proud of it."

"He also fined me five days' pay once," said Thompson, after the president had passed, "but I'm kind of tickled at that too."

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, blood and bowels. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Putz new life and vigor into any weak sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by H. F. Vorkamp, druggist.

The Father-in-law Trouble.

Bernard J. Fox of Haverstraw says he could get along all right with his mother-in-law, but that in his case it is the father-in-law who has caused all the trouble. Mr. Fox has sued Frederick Mardorf for $20,000 for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections and for forcibly preventing him from living with her. Natives of Haverstraw think he will win the $20,000 or his wife.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by H. F. Vorkamp, druggist.

The Oath.

The oath was originally an appeal to divine authority to ratify an assertion. The old Greek gods swore by the Styx, and Jehovah is represented in the early books of the Bible as swearing by himself, there being none higher. The form of an oath among the Hebrews was, "By the God of Abraham," "God do so unto me" and "God knoweth."

To the Public.

Allow me to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I had a very severe cough and cold and feared I would get pneumonia but after taking the second dose of this medicine I felt better, three bottles of it cured my cold and the pains in my chest disappeared entirely. I am most respectfully yours for health, Ralph S. Meyers, 61—Thirty-seventh street, Wheeling, W. Va. For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

PANTHEISM.

This is thy brother, this poor stiver fish, Close to the surface, dying in his ditch! Thy flesh, thy beating heart, thy very life! All this, I say, art thou, against thy wish. Thou may'st not turn away; thou shalt allow The truth, nor shalt thou dare to question how. There is but one great heart in nature beating, And this is thy heart; this, I say, art thou.

In all thy power and all thy passion, With this and that poor stiver fish, And that high climbing fancy and a heart Caught into heaven or cast in the air.

Thou art the same with all the little earth, A little part, and sympathy of truth. Shall tell thee and thine openness of soul What fear is death and what a life is worth. —The Poems of Philip Henry Savage.

When the School- ma'ams Sailed.

By HARRY A. ARMSTRONG.

Judge Nevins sat on the edge of the drydock whirling and spinning yarns as he was always doing. Not that he was a judge or ever had been, but it shows how a name will stick to a seafaring man through life, for the judge's baptismal name was William. Some one called him judge in the days when he sailed before the mast, and it stuck to him always, like his white hair. Here the judge sat with the sailing hammers clattering away around him like spring frosts and the keel of the Mary Ann of Charlevoix as dry as it was before the launch day. Men were at work on a plank slung over the side spilling green paint into the sea with the recklessness rightfully belonging to drunken sailors.

A woman passed along the opposite side of the street. She was listening to the clatter of the hammers and did not see the judge as he stood erect, but in hand and bowing like a Beau Brummel. The other men giggled a bit, not because a woman was a rare thing on Goose Island, but wholly at the judge. "That is the bravest woman who ever stepped over the side of any craft afloat or on the bottom of the lake," said the judge as he slipped back to his place on the edge of the drydock and began to stroke his beard, which had more gray hair than black in it.

"She—that is to say, that lady—doesn't look afraid of anything, not even the water out of the river." But the judge paid no attention to the remark of the first mate.

"The Mary Ann of Charlevoix was not so pretty then as she was at first," said the judge half to himself. "But she was just as seaworthy as any of the bigger vessels going up and down the lake under their own steam. When the June vacations came, the Mary Ann lay here in the river without a thing to do. Along came a schoolteacher and asked me what we would charge to take a half dozen or so young ladies sailing up the lake to the Thousand Islands and bring them safely back to Chicago."

"Now, that was a new kind of a cargo, and I had to scratch my head quite a bit before making a price. 'But right, sir,' she said. 'We will come down tomorrow.' And so they came. Every mother's son of us was carrying provisions and getting a stock of fresh meats and things when there broke loose a regular babel at the gangplank, and there they came tripping aboard with valises and boxes and umbrellas and packages and no telling what. Just nine came, and we had no trouble stowing them away in the cabin, my room and the mate's room. But two more came, and then, just as it was getting dark, two more came."

"That made thirteen!"

"As a result I had to go out and pick up a new crew in the hope of getting under way before the kind of cargo I carried was known, but I forgot this day was Friday. Something got tangled with the lines, or the anchor chain was rusted, or the wheel had to be fixed. The Mary Ann hugged the wharf till after midnight, when we ran up a light, and a tug came alongside and towed us out into the lake. The young women were all up as we glided along past the big elevator and the shadows of the mast swept across the decks of salt barrels and on into the broader basin beyond the life saving station."

"We throw off the lines of the tug, and there was such a shouting the lookout at the life saving station would have been excused if he had thought a female lunatic asylum had broken out on the Mary Ann."

"Eat? They could eat anything. I believe they would have fattened on fricassee of rope ends. Oh, it was a jolly lot that drew up to the first breakfast, and the cabin boys had to make several trips to the scullery before the meal was done. Before noon they had minutely examined everything from the rock ballast in the hold to the little flags whipping at the masts. They even wanted to steer, and sometimes the quartermaster would let them. The ship would luff, and the outfit would laugh and grab at masts and coils of rope as the boat rolled back to the course."

"When the first night came, the mandolins and guitars came on deck, and for hours the voices of women were mingled with the trembling melody of the strings. That, too, came to an end along about midnight, and the whole 12 pulled cots out upon the deck and slept there."

"But I might go on and on about that voyage and not get to the point about this schoolma'am, so we will pass up until we are north of Little Manitou light and four nights out. There came a good fresh wind that rocked the Mary Ann like a cradle. Cots on the deck were shoved in, and the girls were beginning to regret leaving their mothers. One by one they dashed out of the cabin and clutched wildly at the rail. Like specters, they made their way along the decks until the 13 were there, bareheaded, barefooted and clothed in loose robes of white. We turned the ship's head against the wind and waited.

"Just as daylight was showing the moon sailed out from behind a bank of clouds and shone upon the waters. One of the girls screamed, and I started down to the deck for I was up by the wheel. 'Mama overboard!' she cried, and I was at the top of the ladder and went back with her."

"There he is!" she exclaimed, pointing to a dark object in the waves. Then there floated by a bit of wreckage, and I gave orders to bring the boat about and to lower the dory. By the time the boat came around the dory was ready to go down, and four men and a woman jumped in. I looked about me for Mary Wood—that was her name—and she was gone. Fear fairly shook me as that little boat went up over a swell and was lost beyond the water, to come into sight again the next instant. That girl knew her business. She held the wheel across the waves till she got about the wrecked man. It was a bold and daring thing to do, but she did it—yes, sir, turned that dory in the trough of the sea and came up to the man in the water."

"He crawled into the boat over the bow, and they all pulled away for the Mary Ann."

"And the even dozen schoolma'ams had forgotten their troubles and were cheering—singing like a lot of boys at a football game. Finally they came alongside and were hoisted to the deck. Some one got whiskey, and the rescued man swam out in like a hospital patient, but the young woman would have none of it."

"In the course of time the young man got on a shift of dry clothes and told his story. He had been on a passenger steamer when a big wave swept the deck, taking him and the chicken coop and scattering out every foot of cargo. His name was Samuel Wellins—a bank clerk on his vacation. The Mary Ann had 14 passengers from then on. I cannot tell you what was said by him when the mandolins were trembling and the moon was making the whole deck yellow, but I sometimes run up to him and see the white water spilling into lace and diamonds across the figurehead."

"Perhaps it was no affair of mine, but after we got back to Chicago I looked up the fellow and found that he had told the truth and that they were to be married at the beginning of the next vacation."

"It so happened that our luck had changed with that voyage, and the Mary Ann had all she could do the rest of the season. Neither did I have time to busy myself about affairs for two winters. Then I set out, one blizzarding day in January, to find my former passengers. I found them—that is, I found Samuel, hard and cold, where he had been for fully a year, and not a cent in the bank. Mary was at her school then, but after awhile she came home and cried when she saw me, as if she had seen her father, and told me how Samuel—she called him Samuel—had fallen one day when he was skating with her and how he had never been able to get to the bank again. More than that he could not earn a cent, and before she got a school again they were absolutely penniless. But they were sailing again, and two could live on the wages of a teacher."

"Now, that is what I call bravery, and is the reason I said she was the bravest woman that ever was."

"And the captain of the Mary Ann of Charlevoix walked across the street of Goose Island.—Chicago Record-Herald.

"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Filley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in a short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

FOILED BY HIS OWN TRICK.

Scheme For Selling a Farm and Its Dramatic Climax.

"Some years ago," said the narrator, "an off-beam hit Littlefield, Ill., and everybody for miles around was seen sniffing for oil and every stranger suspected of being an expert looking for a good thing. An old farmer named Loomis had a big place three miles out of town, which would have been a fortune for him had he not been possessed of a mania for swapping, manifest in a peculiar attempt to trade off his land for twice its value."

"When the boom was at the top notch, Loomis received a visitor who took so much interest in the farm, so liked its appearance, location, etc., that the old farmer scented a petroleum man and saw visions of incalculable wealth; but, being a shrewd man, Loomis did not care to take any unnecessary chances with Providence, and on the quiet he sent the bird man out the back way with orders to dump the kerfuffle can into the well. The visitor liked the entire place, inspected the barn, the chicken yard and then, as if by chance, asked for a drink of water."

"Loomis was waiting for that and handed up a brimming bucket before the man's own eyes and poured him out a gourdful of light with a fine, opalescent scum upon it. The visitor sniffed the stuff, tasted it, made a wry face and asked if it was always like that. 'Oh, yes,' said Loomis, 'but you soon got accustomed to the taste, and our doctor says this is the finest water on earth for the stomach.' 'Well, I am dinged if I'll ever get used to it,' was the unexpected response. 'I am looking for a farm, not an oil well, and if I have got to haul my drinking water three miles from Littlefield I guess I'd rather buy nearer town.'"

"It took Loomis six months to get the taste of oil out of his well, and by that time the boom was over, and nothing was left of the oil craze but routing dricks and abandoned shafts."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Astounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S. Hinkelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found its equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50 c and $1.00 at H. F. Vorkamp's Trial bottle free.

BOOK MAXIMS.

It is better to give a book than to lend it.

Do not bite a paper knife until it has the edge of a saw.

To cut out books except with a proper ivory knife.

It is ruinous to a good book to cut it right through into the corners.

Books are neither card racks, crumb baskets nor receptacles for dead leaves.

Never write upon a title page or half title. The blank fly leaf is the right place.

Do not turn the leaves of books down. Particularly do not turn the leaves of books printed on plate paper.

If you are in the habit of lending books, do not mark them. These two acts together constitute an act of indecency.

Books were not meant as cushions, nor were they meant to be loaned before a fire.—Arthur L. Humphreys in Private Library.

Seymour Webb, Molra, N. Y., writes: "I had been troubled with my kidneys for twenty-five years and had tried several physicians, but received no relief until I bought a bottle of Foley's Kidney Cure. After using two bottles I was absolutely cured. I earnestly recommend Foley's Kidney Cure." Take only Foley's. For sale by H. F. Vorkamp.

Apples the Diet For the Sedentary.

Apples are very wholesome and digestible. They contain considerable potassium and sodium salts, magnesium, a little iron and about 85 per cent of water. Apples, being rich in pectin, form readily into jelly. They also contain free organic acids as well as salts, such as malates, citrates and tartrates. They are quite laxative, more so if taken late at night or early in the morning with a glass of water. Their nutritive value is not much, as they are largely composed of water. For invalids apples are best when baked and eaten either plain or served with cream.—Ledger Monthly.

Adolph Blumer, Grand Mound, Ia., writes: "I have used Foley's Money and Tar in my family and think it is the best cough cure on the market. I would not be without it in my home, as there is nothing so good for coughs and colds. For sale by H. F. Vorkamp."

A Pathetic Bereavement.

Miss Singer—I saw in the paper that there is to be an entertainment for a "musical orphanage." Pray, what may a musical orphanage be?

Mr. Kentall—I can't say positively, yet, I know, but I imagine it must be a child deprived of its native air.—Harpers Bazar.

If a mother is at all clever, she can train her baby by the use it is 6 weeks old to cry to go to its father as soon as he comes in the house.—Atchison Globe.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Portland, Va. Question Number Two.

The sexton of a certain country church usually makes the most of an opportunity and is not above giving what he describes as "a gentle hint" to the sinner.

The other afternoon he had conducted a party round the church, and despite the usual dropping of more than one "gentle hint" it appeared as if the sexton was to go unrepentant.

In the porch the leader of the party paused a moment, glanced the old sexton profusely and wished him "Good afternoon."

"I suppose," he added, "you've been here many years?"

"Fifty," replied the old man, "and it's a very strange thing, as when I'm showing a party out of the porch they all ask me that question, or 'with emphasis' 'the other'."

"Indeed!" smiled the sexton. "And what may the other question be?"

"What I call the question number two," replied the sexton calmly, "is just this: 'Samwell, is this allowed?' And Samwell always answers, 'Tis is allowed!'"

"Samwell" watched the party leave with a lighter heart and a heavier pocket.—London Answers.

The Kaiser Waited.
A woman of high social distinction in America was presented to the Kaiser at some dinner that was not attended with royal state. She was talking to him when she was offered a famous German salad. It was handed on her plate, and the Kaiser was on her left, and she was in a predicament. She did not dare turn her face from the emperor to help herself to the salad. The situation was too much for her. The emperor, seeing the condition at a glance, looked at her for an instant and laughed as he said: "A Kaiser can wait, but a salad cannot."

VISITED "AUNT MARY."

President Has a Friendly Chat With Wife's Old Nurse.

"JUST SAY IT'S MR. ROOSEVELT."

That Was the Form of the Chief Executive's Announcement—A Red Letter Day in the Flynn Household, Where "Aunt Mary" Led with Lives in New York.

The New York World gives the following incident in connection with President Roosevelt's recent visit to New York:

"Mrs. Flynn, is Aunt Mary here?"

President Theodore Roosevelt had stepped off on his way back to Washington from Oyster Bay and climbed a dark stairway to the second floor of the house 130 East Forty-eighth street, Manhattan, to call upon the old nurse, Mrs. Mary Ledwith, who had nursed not only Mrs. Roosevelt herself when she was a baby, but all of the children of Mrs. Roosevelt and the president.

"Yes, she is here," said Mrs. Flynn, who is Aunt Mary's sister, "but I can't see who you are."

"Just say it's 'Mr. Roosevelt' and that I want to see her, please. I came up to see how she is."

Mrs. Flynn, though she had known the Roosevelts for many years, was not unreasonably a bit "dusted" by the honor of a visit from the president of the United States, with his secretary and valet and detectives waiting outside.

She ushered him into her little sitting room and then went and acquainted the old nurse, seated in an invalid's chair in another room.

"It's the president of the United States, and he has come up to see you," said Mrs. Flynn.

"The president of the United States?" echoed Aunt Mary in amazement.

"Certainly," and he says to tell you that if you are not too ill he wants to see you."

A light dawned on the old nurse's mind.

"Oh, the president! I'll be bound now that it's nobody but Mr. Roosevelt. Why, you quite took my breath away."

And then she fixed her hair a bit, as women will, old or young, and, adjusting her glasses, announced that the president could be shown in.

Mr. Roosevelt came in smiling and bent over the old nurse and shook her hand. Then he drew up a chair and sat down beside her. He told her how sorry he was that she was ill.

In a few minutes the bell rang again and Mrs. Roosevelt came in and took a seat on the other side of the nurse. She remained only a short time and then went to another room to be fitted with some gowns which Mrs. Flynn is making for her.

When the president's party came out, the sidewalk was lined with children, who set up a cheer. Some of them called for a speech. The president passed through the crowd, putting his hands and laughing as he went. Frank Flynn, who escorted the president to the carriage, had on a low button, "That's the right sign," said the president.

In the meantime the old nurse in her invalid's chair was smiling happily and saying over and over: "He ain't a bit changed; not a bit. He might be ten times the president and still be just Mr. Roosevelt, always thoughtful and kind."

Mrs. Ledwith has been in Mrs. Roosevelt's family for forty-five years. She is seventy-six years old and has the culture that comes of much travel with refined people, besides a good deal of kindness of heart. She took care of Mrs. Roosevelt in her childhood, accompanied her abroad and has been the right hand of the present lady of the White House in the care of her children. A few weeks ago, on her way from Oyster Bay to Washington, she was taken suddenly ill and was carried to the home of her sister, Mrs. Flynn. As soon as she recovers sufficiently she will go back to the Roosevelts at the White House.

She is quite overcome by the fame that has been thrust upon her by the president's call and says, "They were nice people before ever they went to the White House to live."

SCHWAB QUESTIONED.
President Tries to Learn Secrets of Giant Steel Trust.
Charles M. Schwab, president of the steel trust, called at the White House, says a Washington dispatch to the New York World, to pay his respects. President Roosevelt interrogated him closely as to the nature of the combination of the constituent companies. The secret of that agreement has never been divulged. The industrial commission tried to get it, but failed. Whether the president learned it is not known.

Mr. Schwab announced that the capacity of the Homestead armor factory will be increased from 300 tons a month to between 600 and 700. This increase is undertaken at the request of the ordnance bureau of the navy department.

Regulating Use of X Rays.
The cure of cancer and other diseases due to bacteria by the X rays, says a Chicago dispatch, will result in legislative action to prohibit any one but physicians and surgeons operating with the powerful rays upon patients. Dr. Glendon's case of Mrs. Orrin W. Potter, who has suffered for years with cancer, has greatly interested medical men. "The Chicago Medical Society will ask legislative action."

W. J. Shively, Batesville, O., speaking of Banner Salve, says: "I used it for piles, and it has done me more good than any salve I have ever used, and I have tried a great many kinds." For sale by H. F. Vortkamp.

Cancerous Sores

are most frequently to be seen upon the face, neck or breast, though they are liable to appear upon other parts of the body. When they begin to spread and eat into the flesh, sharp, piercing pains are felt as the underlying tissue is destroyed and the tender nerves exposed. Cancerous sores develop from very trivial causes; a carbuncle or boil, swollen gland, a little watery blister on the tongue or lip, a wart, mole or bruise of some kind becomes an indolent, festering sore, which in time degenerates into cancer.

"Ten years ago I had a sore on my left temple, which the doctors pronounced cancerous ulcer; it would itch, burn and bleed, then scab over, but would never heal. After making S. S. S. available the sore began to discharge, and when all the poisonous matter had passed out it got well. I look in all about thirty bottles, continuing it for some time after the sore had healed, to be sure all the poison was out of my system. Have seen no sign of the cancer in ten years."

Where He Forgot Himself.
"We are seven," laughingly quoted the man who was an applicant for life insurance when asked to give the number of children in his father's family.

"And their names?" asked the examining surgeon.

"Well, there's Albert, Addie, Henry, Laura, William and Doris, and—"

The surgeon looked surprised, and the applicant looked foolish.

Then he began again: "There's Albert and Addie, and Henry and Laura, and William and Doris, and—"

The surgeon announced that these were only six. The applicant acknowledged the error and went over the list again and again, invariably leaving out the sixth name. Then a bright idea came to him. He took a pen and wrote: "I forgot myself."

The surgeon seemed relieved, the applicant seemed more foolish than ever, and the office boy grinned on at him.

"That certainly was one thing," finally commented the applicant, "that I completely forgot myself."—New York Times.

CLOGGING THE PIPES

A SENSIBLE SERMON ON HOUSEHOLD SANITATION.

Some Suggestions About the Plumbing and the Clog That Should Be Exercised in the Avoidance Both of Expense and Disease.

Nowadays the plumber and his bill are your true household specters. Like other specters, careful common sense will put them to rest and confusion nine times in ten. Wise men have been studying this subject ever so long to devise plumbing that would take care of itself, but they have not yet succeeded. Neither are they likely to without a revolution in mechanics whereby the tendency of fluids always to seek their own level may be eliminated and other things as wonderful brought to pass. So long as knowledge remains nearly static so long will it behoove every householder to look well to the usage of her pipes and her traps.

A bit of rag or even string, a burnt match, a wisp of hair, seems a very little thing, one that the pipes can carry off with a possible hurt, but the trap, by hanging over the bend of the trap, may serve as a siphon to take away the water seal, which is all that stands between the household and unlimited sewer gas. And the rag may keep on doing it for weeks and weeks until deadly disease is rampant.

A string snarled and twisted may work the same ill. The match end, of course, ought to float away harmlessly, but is very much likelier to be caught in some eddy of the flush water, jammed into a crevice and there to take to itself other solid particles until they form a clot both offensive and dangerous.

As for hair, there is no end to the harm it harbors. A wisp quickly forms itself into a sort of strainer, catching and holding all that passes. Aside from that, it has a trick of lodging in the most inconvenient places, catching upon the least roughness inside the pipe and staying there until by accretion it has clogged the whole space.

Hair has special affinity for bits of soap. Solid soap, by the way, should never be sent down the pipe. Very strong soaps are even objectionable unless you follow it with a flood of clean water, preferably hot water.

Coffee grounds and tea leaves either clog a pipe very soon or else, if the flush water prevents that, wear it through quickly, partly by mechanical action, partly by chemical. Neither should ever be permitted in a sink. Even if you are wise enough to keep out all grease, and thus make sure that the grounds shut safe away from your own pipes, in the sewer they may come in contact with grease from pipes less carefully kept and clog and clog your whole pipe system, making necessary costly and inconvenient unclogging.

Every kitchen ought to have its grease can, emptied once a week in winter and in summer every three days. All sorts of refuse fat should go into it, even the scrapings from plates and dishes. Greasy water, as from boiling hams or corned beef, should be allowed to cool thoroughly, then have the grease carefully taken off before it goes down the pipes. Shillies and fryings ought to be filled with very hot soda water and let stand half an hour before washing. This gives time for the soda to partly saponify the grease and keep it from sticking to the pipe or caking on top of the trap.

In scouring faucets be careful to keep the scouring grit out of the joints. Even the finest particles cut away screw threads turning many times a day. After scouring also take care to let the water run at least a minute before catching any for use. In washing sandy vegetables, as spinach, turnips, potatoes, use a big pan and drain off the dirty water, so the sand may be caught. Even a spoonful of sand going down a pipe will cut and wear it more than a hoghead of water.

Milky water is one of the hardest things to manage. Even a small quantity daily clogs pipes unless the milky water is followed by a flushing of soda water and let stand half an hour before washing. This gives time for the soda to partly saponify the grease and keep it from sticking to the pipe or caking on top of the trap.

In scouring faucets be careful to keep the scouring grit out of the joints. Even the finest particles cut away screw threads turning many times a day. After scouring also take care to let the water run at least a minute before catching any for use. In washing sandy vegetables, as spinach, turnips, potatoes, use a big pan and drain off the dirty water, so the sand may be caught. Even a spoonful of sand going down a pipe will cut and wear it more than a hoghead of water.

Put a lump as big as the fist in an earthen or wooden vessel along with twice the bulk of quicklime and cover with four gallons of hot water. Stir well and let settle. Pour the clear liquid down the pipes and follow it in half an hour with a flush of clear water boiling hot. Thus every kind of a sink may be kept sweet and fresh.—New York Sun.

Wait Till He Sees You.
A Zulu chief, when you enter his bottle, remains silent for some moments and seems quite unconscious of your presence. At length he says in a tone of grave dignity, "Go saku bona" (I see you), to which you reply in the same way. The longer he takes to "see you" the greater man you are supposed to be, and until you are "seen" you must keep silent and appear as much as possible not to be there at all.

Unknown to the Lawyers.
Judge — one of the great lawyers of the last generation, charged a client a retainer of $1,000 in an important case, but the parties got together next morning and settled the suit before the judge had opened a book or written a line concerning it. His client called to see if he would not refund part of the money. The lawyer seemed surprised at the suggestion. "Refund?" he exclaimed. "Refund, did you say? My friend, that is a kind of refund unknown to the legal profession!"—New York Press.

BIG ENOUGH TO HIT.

So Thought the Small Boy, but the Man Thought Differently.

He wasn't very big, but he was a sturdy little chap with a face that bore the marks of much thinking and premature responsibility. I learned afterward that he was supporting a crippled mother and an invalid sister who had been left helpless in the world by the death of her father. He might have run away from home and evaded the responsibility, but he didn't think of it. He just sold papers.

At the loop on Fifteenth street a crowd was gathered, waiting for the evening cars. A ragged young girl was selling flowers at the Fifteenth street end of the waiting station when a man, rushing to catch his car, knocked her against the side of the building. Without stopping, probably not having noticed what he had done, he continued his rush, when he stepped in front of him, the boy.

"Say, what do you want to knock a girl down for? Hit me, I'm big enough."

The man paused in surprise and then glanced around. He saw the flower girl picking up her wares and understood. Without a moment's hesitation he went back to her, gave her enough money to make her eyes sparkle with joy and said:

"I'm sorry, my dear, that I hurt you. I didn't see." Then, turning to the boy, he continued: "You said you were big enough, young man, but you're a great deal bigger than you think. Men like you will have a lot to do with keeping this old world in a condition of self respect."

Then he caught his car, and the boy and the girl stood there wondering what he meant.—Denver Times.

DREAMS WHICH HAPPEN.

A Robbery That Was Witnessed by a Woman During Sleep.

A lady spending the summer in the country, some 20 miles from her city residence, dreamed that the latter was robbed, she herself being a witness of the robbery. In her dream she saw two men, one of whom jumped, in the act of rummaging some trunks in the hall. A candle stuck by means of its own wax on the newel post illuminated the scene with a dim light.

After finishing their work with the trunks the men went up stairs to a closet, from which they removed curtains and hangings stored for the summer months. The dreamer observed that they overlooked her most valuable belongings, which had been placed well back on upper shelves.

Suddenly she seemed to be transported to her birthplace at Auburn, N. Y., where she especially noted the bronze figure of an Indian which surmounted the prison edifice.

At breakfast the next morning she related her vivid dream to those present, and five or six are now living and credulous of the fact. Subsequently it was found that the city house had been entered and robbed. On the newel post were the marks of the candle. The curtains had all been taken but the best set, which were found where the dreamer had seen them.

Suspicion was directed to a painter who had been at work on the house, who was lame and who disappeared immediately after the robbery. Investigation of this man's character showed that he had served a term in the Auburn penitentiary.—Health Culture.

France and the Potato.
There was much difficulty in introducing the potato into France. It was only toward the end of the reign of Louis XIV that it began to be used. The learned had opposed its introduction systematically, saying it produced leprosy, and the common people refused to test it even on their live stock.

A trick at last established it. Fields were planted all over France with potatoes and carefully guarded until the tubers were ripe, it being given out that these fields were growing a new thing specially for the king and that trespassers would be prosecuted. Now the laws at that time were severe. A man might be hanged when he hunted in the wild forest, for the game was the seigneur's, almost each one of whom kept his private gallowes. Trespass against the king implied, therefore, terrible punishment.

The danger of the punishment proved itself an alluring bait. As the contrivance, wise in foresight, had seen, the fields that were purposely left unguarded were pillaged right and left, the potatoes eaten, some kept and planted and the tuber at last effectually introduced in France.

Irring's Intensity.
The piercing eyes and intense expression of Henry Irving once had the effect of making a fellow actor altogether forget that he was on the stage at all. It occurred in Manchester during a performance of "Macbeth," and in the scene where Macbeth says to one of the murderers, "There's blood upon thy face!" Irving put so much earnestness into his words that the murderer forgot his proper answer ("Tis Banquo's, then") and replied in a startled voice: "Is there? Great Scott!" He fancied, as he afterward said, that he had broken a blood vessel.—Ledger Monthly.

FOUND A NEW SECT.

Former Methodist Clergyman Believes Millenium Is Near.

The Rev. E. F. Weatherwax, formerly of this city, has withdrawn from the Methodist Episcopal conference and has founded a new religious denomination, which up to date has six members, says a Syracuse dispatch.

It is called the "Little Flock," and the headquarters are at Cortland. The sect claims to have no creed but the Bible and is held together by divine love. It believes that it is a chosen people.

Mr. Weatherwax says that the Lord more than 2,000 years ago gave through the prophet Daniel a clear description of the times in which we are now living, and he thinks that the time of the blessing for which God's people have prayed so long is very near at hand and that the wheat and the tares will soon be separated and that soon a great time of trouble will overthrow existing institutions and usher in Christ's kingdom of peace and equity.

"Sure."

"What do you call it?"

"Glimmie." And it was 5 years old its last birthday.—Chicago Post.

FOUR

Robberies Attempted Last Night.

A Long Chase

Given One Burglar by an Officer.

The Fellow was Fleet Footed However, and was Not Captured.

City Council Will Probably be Asked to Make a Contract With Toledo Work House Authorities.

Four burglaries were attempted in this city last night between the hours of 10:30 o'clock and midnight and although the attempts were all unsuccessful the robbers are still at large and there seems to be no chance of their arrest and conviction. One burglar was seen and chased by a policeman but the fellow got a good start of the officer and proved to be too fleet-footed to be captured in a foot race.

The places that were visited were the residence of Neal Housh on west Wayne street, the Hershberg residence at Spring and McDonel streets, and the residences of Mr. Schall and John Goebel on west North street. The robbers are very bold in their work but in each instance they were frightened away before they succeeded in gaining an entrance to any of the houses visited.

Officer Neubrecht, who is doing duty on the west side, and who has been on the lookout for several weeks for some of the prowlers who are under suspicion, was rewarded in his efforts last night by catching sight of the fellow who attempted to get into the Hershberg residence. The burglar was also on the alert however, and before the officer could get close enough to head him off he saw his danger and started to run. Officer Neubrecht gave chase but the robber had gained a good start and could not be overtaken.

Since attempts at burglaries became so numerous recently the police have taken many extra precautions but luck seems to favor the robbers and no catches of very great importance have yet been made. One trouble that could be remedied is the fact that when tramps and other dangerous men are arrested on suspicion or for vagrancy they are released after either a few hours or a few days are spent in the city prison and they remain in the city until they are either escorted out by an officer or leave voluntarily. If such men were given work house sentences, as they were during Mayor Prophet's administration, the city would soon be rid of them. The matter will probably be taken up by the city council with a view to securing a contract with the authorities of the Toledo work house in order that the prisoners from this city may be sent to the institution.

ANOTHER BUNCH

Of Burglaries Reported that Occurred Saturday night.

Saturday night the burglars were equally as active as they were last night. They visited the home of Mrs. Whistler, at West and Water streets, and ransacked the entire house, carrying clothing from the bedrooms on the second floor into the kitchen on the first floor. The fellows evidently wanted nothing but money however for they left the clothing lying on the floor when they departed. They were very deliberate in their work and even stopped in the kitchen long enough to smoke a couple of cigarettes. At the house of Jacob Busio, near the Whistler residence, the same tactics were employed as at the latter place, but nothing of value has been missed. The burglars also visited the homes of C. W. Barton, C. Y. Rogers, and Thomas Peat. At the Barton and Rogers residences, several articles of jewelry, a small amount of money, and a razor were stolen while at the Peat residence one man gained entrance to the house and was searching through drawers of a dresser in the bedroom occupied by Mrs. Peat when she heard him and thinking the person was a member of the family she asked what was wanted. At the same moment she discovered that the intruder was a stranger and screamed an alarm. With an oath the robber instantly extinguished the light in the room and before any one could intercept him he had reached a door leading to the outside and had disappeared. There are no very clear descriptions of any of the men who have been seen, about the only description given being that in every case the burglars seen were white men.

WENT DOWN.

Heavy Load on a Narrow Track Wagon

Proved Disastrous to the New Asphalt Block Paving on West High Street.

Yesterday afternoon a wagon belonging to the Lima Transfer company on which had been loaded a heavy dynamo from the Lima Electric Light and Power Co., was hauled out of the alley west of the opera house upon the new asphalt block pavement which had recently been completed on that thoroughfare.

The dynamo weighed about seven tons and when the wagon got fairly upon the new pavement and the team was headed toward Main street some one noticed that the paving was sinking beneath the wheels of the heavily loaded wagon and shouted to the driver that the road was going down. The driver at once turned his horses and went down the alley past the city building, the wheels leaving their impress on the paving from the time they struck the asphalt on the north side of the street until they left it on the south side.

PERSONAL.

Clarence James, of Pittsburg, came into this city yesterday to spend Sunday with his parents. "Jesse" as he is more familiarly known in Lima is now in the employ of J. M. Guffey, the oil producer who owns the big Spindletop oil well at Beaumont, Texas, field.

Mrs. W. H. Mosier and daughter, of Van Wert, are guests of Mrs. Rose Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Collins are visiting in Logan and Champaign counties.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harding and son Warren, of near Ada, O., and Manley Mercer, of near Bluffton, were guests of E. J. McElroy and wife over Sunday.

Mrs. F. O. Cummings, of Springfield, is the guest of Mrs. James Pillars.

Mr. M. T. Bedford has returned from Chicago after a two weeks visit with Prof. E. A. Bedford.

NOTICE.

Lima Commandery No. 16 Knights of the Red Cross.

All officers and members and candidates for membership who have been examined are requested to be present at the special meeting to be held at Dr. Mathews office, Tuesday evening at 7:30. Business of importance.

DARWING

Tonight to Dispose of the Last Class of Lots.

The drawing of lots in the Lima Machine Works addition, will close tonight, when those who have made their selections in class D will get a chance to compare notes. The class is a large one, extending from Garfield avenue as far west as Woodlawn. The drawing will be conducted at the assembly room in the court house at the usual hour.

AMICABLE Adjustment of the Interurban Line Wrangle.

After what promised to be an endless wrangle, resulting in a general tie-up of all the suburban lines that have been clamoring for admittance to Ft. Wayne, matters have been satisfactorily adjusted and the Lima Ft. Wayne line will go into the city over the tracks of the city line to the court house.

This removes the last obstacle in the way of construction and work will be commenced and pushed to completion with as little delay as possible. Practically all of the right of way has been secured and what is left will not interfere in the least with the progress of the line.

Van Wert is claiming now that the power house will be built there, because it lies half way between the two terminals, but this is a matter yet to be determined. The company expects to have cars running from Lima to Ft. Wayne by August of next year.
